Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I Keep a track Cell Phone for use When I am Traveling and don't use it over 24 times in a year. Due to my remote location and and being on a state line cell phone has been of no use on our farm except for emergency situtaion. You never know if you have service or where it is coming from.

To have to pay a large tax for this service wouldn't be worth it, I can't afford it and would just have to do with out this service.

I have 2 land lines which probley is one more than I need and I guess I could drop it to.

Thank You Garfield Midkiff

Sincerely,

Garfield Midkiff
